DEFEATED CANDIDATES WILL SUPPORT TICKET

Fusionists Do Not Gain Very Rapidly in County

REPUBLICANS STRONG

Usual Soreness Does Not Crop Out Among Beaten Ones

As the political campaign in Washgton county progresses, it is more vident than ever that the Republin candidates w'll win out with rge pluralities, and that the Fusion ovement will not materialize to anyhere near the strength tha: its prooters expected and are trying to make e public believe. The success of the -called Republican slate has not eated the soreness that was conlently counted on by the Fusionists d while some of the defeated candates. may feel sore individually, is feeling will not extend to their ieneds to any wide extent. Every e knows that each candidate had a uare deal, and that if some candates rallied to their support vots which the others could not get, ere is nothing to prevent this in ery straightout contest. In fact, is what every candidate sought to , and those that failed can only ar their disappointment as best ey can.

With this feeling in vogue, there is dissatisfaction of any account beg manifested within the Republin ranks Indeed, reports from all stricts indicate that there is unual harmony and good feeling. The epublican candidates are well disibuted throughout the county, and ch has a wide circle of friends who ll work for his support. The most the defeated candidates have exessed themselves as ready to suprt the ticket and no defections from is source are indicated.

While some attempt is made to mpare the fusion of this campaingn th the fusion movements of 1905 d 1906, there is in reality no comrison The situation is entirely fferent. Then the whole people ere aroused because hey were derred from any participation in the mination of candidates. Then the minations were parcelled out by a nd of county seat politicians, who d the control of county politics so ll in hand that in 1905 a whole ster of court house officials was med to which there was no opposin. The list was merely handed to e county convention of picked delates who ratified the nominations which the voters had no choice. It s the same in 1906, and although e fusionists made a good showing ey did not win in either campaign.

While there was more or less talk ont the so-called Republican slate fore the primary, it was not a ate in the proper sense of the term, r the reason that the candidates ere not brought out in a bunch by rtain interests. All who are arged with being on the slate had nounced long before the so-called ate movement was launched and l had become active individually in e pursuit of their respective cam-

PENNSYLVANIA LIQUOR LAW HAS ABLE DEFENDER

Rev. J. E. Campbell Tells What Effect Brooks Law May Have

ADDRESSES CONVENTION

New Castle Man Describes Methods by Which Lawrence County Went Dry

Denouncing in scathing terms the saloon-keeper and his business, Rev J. Elmer Campbell, of New Castle, a leader in the movement which made Lawrence county dry, then turned on the people and declared that they were to blame for existing conditions, at the evening session of the Charleroi district Sunday School convention held in the Methodist Episcopal church. Rev Campbell defended the Brooks law and said that any man who charged that the booze business could not be abolished by this law was a "liar." Rev Campbell was the feature attraction at the Sunday School convention and his talk on the subject "How Lawrence County Was Made Dry," created a profound impression. Rev Campbell began his duscourse by a brief talk of the work of Rev. William A. Sunday. He said that an evangelist of Sunday's character helps business, drives the saloon from a community and the best of all "arouses the sleepy church."

People of the Monongahela valley were advised to continue their efforts to get Sunday here, Rev. Campbell declaring that if that great evangelist came "there would be bartenders preaching the gospel in one year."

In beginning his discourse proper Rev. Campbell asked the question "Have you heard the latest from Maine?" and then stated it had gone dry by at least 700 votes Some of his main points are given as follows:

"In this war on the saloon the question is not can we win? There is no question. If the church would vote as it dresses up on Sunday, will we win? I say will we win. I understand you Washington countians are thinking of enlarging your jail. Lawrence county can loan you one.

"Can we abolish the saloon under the present Brooks law? It may not be possible, but you can't convince me that we didn't do it in Lawrence county.

"Are you awake? The saloon can't thrive in a distinctly Christian community. You'll have to clean up your churches.

"In Lawrence county we built a machine that put the bug on the saloon good and proper. We had 26 lawyers and committees to boot. Principally among these committees was a violation committee. This committee's duty was to establish evidence of violations. Systematically it went to work Then armed with evidence and a general remonstrance bearing about 15,000 names, we went to Judge Porter. We used 28 of our own and many of the liquor men's witnesses and turned their own evidence against them. They swore the trade was necessary and we irrefutably proved by their own evidence that it wasn't. We asked for justice and got it.

"I want to say right now that there

BOATING HISTORY OF RIVER

California Man Gives Interesting Data of Navigation

BUILDING OF VESSELS

Some interesting apropos of the coming river centennial celebration to be held in Pittsburg beginning next Monday, when the one hundredth anniversary of the beginning of steam navigation on the Western rivers will be celebrated under the auspices of the Western Pennsylvania Historical Society, has come to light in a historical article prepared a number of years ago by L. W. Morgan of California, Pa.

Beginning with a resume of early traffic on the Monongahela River before the days when the steam was navigated by steam propellel boats and keel and flat boats were largely used, Mr. Morgan continues with a description of some of the early boat building operations in Pittsburg. He says:

"The building of sea going vessels was established in Pittsburg by a French gentleman, Louis Anastasius Tarascon, who emigrated from France in 1794, established himself in Philadelphia as a merchant. In 1799 he sent two of his clerks to examine the course of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers from Pittsburg to New Orleans and ascertain the practicability of sending ships and clearing them ready rigged from Pittsburg to Europe and the West Indies.

"The two gentlemen reported favorably. M. Tarascon associated them with himself under the firm name of John A. Tarascon Brothers, James Berthoud & Co, and immediately es-

NOTHING TO OFFER

While there is no partisianship in the duties of the county officials to be elected at the November election, the success of the organization that wins at the polls has a distinct bearing on the politics of the State and Nation later on. By drawing party lines in the local elections the organization is strengthened and maintained, and with a free and unrestricted nominating election, where all the voters can express their choice in the seection of candidates, the business interests of the public are not jeopardized. It is thus with the Republican primary nominees. They were the choice of an infinitely greater number of electors than voted against them, and for that reason there is no occasion for Republicans to desert their ticket at the November election, simply because some candidates won out over others at the primary.

The Fusionists have nothing to offer that is better than what the Republicans have. Man for man in point of business ability and integrity the Fusion ticket is not superior in any respect. While the integrity of no candidate on either ticket is questioned in point of business ability the Republican ticket is equal to if not superior to the Fusionists in every respect. More than that the Republicans are the choice of a big majority of the electors of that party while the Fusion candidtes had an agreement for one or the other to withdraw after the primary in order to make a uniform ticket for both the Democrats and Keystoners Where this is done the nominees cannot be as free a choice of the voters as when they are elected directly in the open primaries.

The Republican ticket is even a freer chice of the electors than the Fusion ticket, and there is no reason for the members of the former to desert their colors. They will need the full strength of their organization later on to uphold the principles of their party in the State and that is why each Republican should stick to his party at the November election.

TAFT SEEMS CERTAIN.

United States Senator Boies Penrose, who has just recovered from an annoying but not serious sickness, has declared that in his judgment President Taft will be re-nominated and re-elected. Senator Penrose sees nothing alarming in the recent Chicago meeting of the advocates of Senator La Follette and declares that meeting merely a move of the political opportunists and soreheads. Senator Penrose reasons along the following convincing lines:

"The vote taken in the Chicago convention for President in 1908 shows how little President Taft has to fear from this so-called La Follette uprising. At that time the Wisconsin candidate received but 25 votes not the solid delegation from his own State, as one delegate voted for Taft. Taft then received 702 votes out of a total of 980. Though it is far in advance of the next convention, yet all the indications point to the regular Republicans uniting for the re-nomination of Mr. Taft. In that event he will have in addition to the 702 votes he had in 1908, these votes which were cast for other candidates: Cannon, 58; Fairbanks, 40; Foraker, 16; Hughes, 67; Knox, 68; Roosevelt 3. With these accessions to his strength it is seen how frail are the supports upon which the hopes of the progressive rest. But they are taking a gambler's chance and at any rate they are crystalizing the opposition in the belief that it may prove useful upon some occasion"

PICKED UP IN PASSING

In view of the effort that is being made at this particular time to sell orchard lands in the west and other sections of the country, attention is called by J. C. Tyson of Adams county to the fact that there is no better opportunities for growing apples than in Pennsylvania. Mr. Tyson is secretary of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Association, and a successful fruit grower himself. Along this line he says:

"Investment in western apple lands should not tempt a Pennsylvanian I know orchards in this State growing on land that has sold within fifteen years for $50 per acre, with good buildings, that will this year pay a net return of about $260 per acre, over 500 per cent. In the meantime these trees have paid off all the cost of growing, including 6 per cent per annum on the investment.

"Thousands of acres of apple land in Pennsylvania are still unplanted and are still available at reasonable prices.

"Pennsylvania apples have quality unexcelled and there is a surprise in store for all the doubters who attend the Annual Fruit Show of the State Horticultural Association at Duquesne Garden, Pittsburg in January when the Association and the State Dairy Union will meet jointly and hold a rousing show."

"What is electricity?" That is a question which is often asked to puzzle the unwary, and the story is told of an investigator in the Pittsburg district who thought to get the popular idea on his subject by putting the question to different people he met in the course of the day The first person he tried it on was a street car conductor, and to the question, "What is electricity?" the latter looked a bit surprised and replied:

"Why, juice, of course. Fares, plese."

"What is electricity?" the investigator asked next of a mechanic, with a box of tools under his arm.

"That which makes the wheels go round," was the reply.

The last question was propounded to a patient in the hospital, who happened to have inadvertantly grasped a live wire. This one replied when he query was put, "What is electricity?"

"What General Sherman said war was."

FREDRICKTOWN PAPER STARTED

Former Charleroi Man at the Head of New Weekly in Coal Region

Last Friday saw another addition to the newspaper field in the Monongahela valley, when the first edition of the "Fredericktown Chronicle," with Philip Hileman, a former Charleroi man as manager and editor, was issued. The new publication which is a five colum quarto will be issued weekly. The first edition gives promise of what is to follow in the way of news. There is bright, breezy, up-to-date newsy appearance to the paper such as is possessed by the model country weekly of today, and the editorial columns shows up strong. Mr. Hileman is late from the Waynesburg Times, where he was managing editor for some time. He was formerly employed by the Mail in its composing rooms. The newspaper fraternity of the Monongahela valley tenders him a warm welcome as a publisher.

"There was no sentiment in Judge Porter's decision for Lawrence county. The evidence was there. Liquor men could get no hope anywhere. They were beaten What has resulted?—a better city, better business and all around better conditions. We've just landed two great big industries, having as competitors two of the wettest cities in the wettest part of the State New Castle and Lawrence county are thriving. Does that talk? dies that prove anything? Crime has fallen off about 50 per cent.

"Now you people can do the same thing that we did. Get busy. Vote right. Conduct the fight systematically. And show them."

In prefacing his remarks Rev. Campbell told the congregation that if anyone had anything to say detrimental to Billy Sunday's character, to say it to him He wanted to fight anyhow. Booklets of statistics concerning New Cactle and Lawrence county were given out, showing the increase in business resulting from the banishment of the saloon. In some trades there has been a wonderful increase.

tablished at Pittsburg a large wholesale and retail store and warehouse, a ship yard, a rigging and sail loft, an anchor smith shop a block manufactory and all other things necessary to complete sea going vessels."

Continuing, Mr. Morgan says that the first schooner was built in 1801 and that for some years small sea going vessels actually were built there and saw actual service. He continues:

"Later steamers were built in great numbers to be used here and on the Western and Southern rivers. Yards were located at Elizabeth, McKeesport, Monongahela, Belle Vernon, California, West Brownsville and East Riverside The coal business was of small proportions until after the dams and locks were built to Brownsville. Brownsville, for a number of years, was the head of navigation so far as steamboating was concerned, and nearly all its prominent and wealthy citizens were boatmen either here or on Western waters.

"The earliest suggestions of an improvement of the rivers by a system of locks was in the report of a survey made for the State by E. F. Gray, a civil engineer, in 1828 Nothing further was done until 1832, when the late Andrew Stewart made an effort in Crongress to have it done by the Federal Government. A public meeting at Waynesburg, Greene County November 18, 1835, recommended and urged an improvement by the State, as Congress had declined to do it. Then came the Monongahela Navigation Company, authorized by an act of Assembly of March 31, 1836. The stock was to be $300,000 in shares of $50. The company started in 1837, of which amount Allegheny contributed $47,400. Until after the work was completed to Brownsville $258,100 was the entire capital basis, and much of this was never realized. The two lower locks were completed for use October 18, 1841. The entire improvement was completed to Brownsville in November, 1844.

"In the early days of the Navigation Company Gen J. K. Moorehead was its president. He was familiarily known as "Old Slackwater." In startling comparison with the coal shipments of today is the table showing the number of bushels of coal passed through the locks commencing with 1845. It shows a total of 4,605,185 bushels, and ending with 1871 it was 54,208,800."

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Loss of Appetite or Distress After Eating a Symptom that Should Not be Disregarded

Appetite is just a natural desire for food. Loss of appetite or stomach distress after eating indicate indigestion or dyspepsia. Over-eating is a habit very dangerous to a person's good general health.

It is not what you eat but what you digest and asimilate that does you good. Some of the strongest, heaviest, and healthiest persons are moderate eaters

There is nothing that will cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people daily contract disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge all in Charleroi who suffer from any stomach derangement, indigestion, or dyspepsia, whether acute or chronic, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the distinct understanding that we will refund their money without question or formality, if after reasonable use of this medicine, they are not perfectly satisfied with the results. We recommend them to our customers every day, and have yet to hear of any one who has not been benefited by them. We honestly believe them to be without equal. They give very prompt relief aiding to neutralize the gastric juices strengthen the digestive organs, to regulate the bowels, and thus to promote perfect nutrition, and eradicate all unhealthy symptoms.

We urge you to try a 25c box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, which gives 15 days' treatment At the end of that time, your money will be returned to you if you are not satisfied. Of course, in chronic cases length of treatment varies. For such cases, we have two larger sizes, which sell for 50c and $1.00 Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. GOOD EFFECTS OF REFORM VICTORY

Quaker City Campaign Inspiration to Party in State.

INTERESTING COUNTY CONTESTS

Chairman Walton Emphasizes Importance of Issues—Pennsylvania in the Elections of 1912.

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—The victory of the reform forces in Philadelphia at the recent primaries has proven an inspiration to the Republican party throughout the state. In every county voters view the regeneration of the party in this city with gratification and confidence. Since the primaries State Chairman Walton and other Republican leaders have received letters from men in every section of the state commending the action of the Philadelphia [illegible] in bringing about genuine reform within their own ranks. Philadelphia is the strongest Republican city in the country. No other city even approaches it in the extent of its majorities in favor of the candidates of the [illegible] party. The [illegible] with which [illegible] followed the leadership of Senator Boies Penrose in his fight for the city's political [illegible] ment by the removal of sinister influences from local [illegible] indicates the temper of [illegible] They demand reform and they refused to [illegible] of opponents of the Republican party to secure it. Senator Penrose's clear cut attitude towards local political conditions received an immediate and emphatic indorsement from Quaker City Republicans. He pointed out that there must be reform that would be lasting reform within the Republican party itself. To accomplish this, he declared, the Republicans must nominate for the mayoralty a candidate who would require no [illegible] and who would not be under political control of the [illegible] [illegible] to command the confidence and [illegible] support of Philadelphia's [illegible] ship.

Election of Reform Ticket Assured.

The nomination of George H. Earle, Jr., whom Senator Penrose so earnestly supported, by [illegible] majority, was the answer of the Republican party in this city to the call of reform. The candidacy of Mr. Earle has placed the Republican party in Philadelphia upon a high plane. Opponents of the Republican ticket enter the campaign disheartened over the certainty that Mr. Earle will be elected.

The success of the reform forces in the primaries is especially gratifying to public spirited citizens of Philadelphia, who have grown tired reading vicious attacks constantly made upon this city. With the advent of new political conditions the era of villification will be brought to an end, for the reason that Mr. Earle and his associates are determined to provide an administration of public affairs that will be free from corrupt influences.

The Republican leaders here are keeping in close touch with the campaign for the election of county tickets throughout the state. Although Pennsylvania will not elect a state ticket this year, the headquarters of the Republican state committee have been opened as usual, and the party leaders are co-operating with county committees in the work of organizing the voters. Reports received at state headquarters indicate a general disposition by Republicans who voted against their party's candidates last year to return to the Republican party.

Duty of the Republican Voter.

The leaders are anxious for Republican victories in the county elections because of the effect an old-time Republican showing will have upon the campaign next year. The Keystone state's importance in the national elections of 1912 will be greater than ever before. The apportionment bill, passed by congress at the recent extra session, increased Pennsylvania's representation in the House at Washington from thirty-two to thirty-six members, thus increasing Pennsylvania's representation in the electoral college from thirty-four to thirty-eight, and the number of delegates to which the state is entitled in the Republican national convention from sixty-eight to seventy-six. The views of the Republican leaders relative to the political situation this fall were outlined today by Chairman Walton, of the Republican state committee.

"This year for the first time the Republican voters of Pennsylvania will not be presented with an opportunity to record through concentrated action their adherence to their party's principles," said Mr. Walton. "Instead of a statewide campaign the contest will not extend beyond county lines, except in a few judicial districts. An unusual condition thus confronts those charged with the marshalling of the Republican hosts of the state at the polls. They must overcome the indifference of the voter in an 'off year;' they must impress him with the fact that the elections will involve vastly more important issues than those of merely local significance; they must convince him that the welfare of Pennsylvania and the nation demand that his ballot shall be cast for the entire Republican ticket.

Pennsylvania at the Polls.

"The elections this fall will have a direct bearing upon the contest which awaits the Republican party for supremacy in the nation. The result of the campaign of 1912 will affect the material welfare of every man, woman and child in this state. Encouraged by their success in the congressional elections last fall, opponents of the Republican party are active, alert and hopeful. They believe that next year they will elect a Democrat president and that they will secure control of both branches of the Sixty-third congress. If they do this Democratic tariff agitation with its destructive influences upon the industrial and commercial organizations of this country will only have fairly started. And Democratic free trade tariff legislation will be the inevitable result.

"The outcome of the elections in every state this year will be accepted as an accurate index to the sentiment of the people relative to the administration of President Taft and his effective efforts to prevent Democratic tariff revision. The triumph of the spirit of unrest in 1911 may mean its triumph in 1912.

"If there is a state in the Union which should emphasize at every election its uncompromising adherence to the protective tariff system Pennsylvania is that state. Indifference of Republican voters and Democratic victories this fall will be construed by low tariff advocates as an indication that Pennsylvania no longer demands a continuance of the conservative and constructive policies of the Republican party. The state committee is doing its utmost to impress upon Republicans the importance of getting together at the polls this fall preparatory to the battle for Republican principles in 1912."

Some one was telling Sam about the longevity of the mud turtle. LIVERY STABLE STOCK IN VENICE!

If a man of ordinary intelligence were approached by an affable stranger and urged to buy stock in a livery stable in Venice, he would in all likelihood feel insulted. He would have reason to be, for such an offer would be a reflection on his intelligence.

It is along lines like this that some business men advertise.

For instance: A clothier has a line of suits near the end of the season that he desires to close out. He advertises them at a sharp reduction. Compared with what he paid for them and what he sold them for at the opening of the season, they are a bargain. The public does not want the suits at that particular time at any price, and the clothier, not getting the results, makes a deduction that advertising doesn't pay, and ceases to advertise.

In the meantime the big department store in the nearest city is flooding the newspapers with cuts and descriptions of nifty ties, collars, marked down shirts that are good at any time, seasonable underwear at special prices that is needed to fill in between times.

The local dealer is disappointed because people won't buy stock in a livery stable in Venice; and loses the sale of other stocks that might be practicable.

The department store in the city gets the trade because it knows that the ordinary person has no use for something he does not need at that particular time.

The business man who never gets advertising to produce results are the Micawbers of trade—always waiting for something to turn up. The man who knows how to advertise, and tries to sell the people something they want, WHEN THEY WANT IT and not to unload what he doesn't want—turns something up.

CHILD WOULD NOT EAT

Constant Cough Weakened Him

A healthy child ought to be "hungry as a bear" at meal time. Poor appetite means failing health.

The best thing you can do for a child that won't eat is to give teaspoonful doses of Vinol. This is wonderfully good in bringing back lost appetite and it is so pleasant that children take it eagerly.

Mrs. E. Stager of Bronx Borough, N. Y., says: "My little son, three years ald, had bronchitis for a year. The cough disturbed his rest and he lost his appetite

"I gave him Vinol for a while and it stopped his coughing and brought back his appetite. His health has improved wonderfully. He likes Vinol."

It is the tonic iron and strengthening cod liver elements in Vinol (it contains no oil,) that make it so strengthening and blood-enriching. It makes weak, pale children strong and rosy and we guarantee it to do exactly what we tell you—if it does not you get your money back. Piper Bros Druggists, Charleroi, Pa.

Snail Millions of Years Old.

A petrified prehistoric snail embedded in the heart of a large piece of blue lias stone, was discovered a few days ago by quarrymen working at Cheddar Cliffs, Wales, upon some large boulders of stone which were displaced in the landslide which occurred some years ago. The discovery is distinctly interesting to the geologists on account of the great age of the find, as, situated upon a very low strata, it must be millions of years since the snail lived.

And while some of this possibly helped one or two candidates, is is more than evident that others would have received the nomination anyhow upon their personal merits, and could not have been beaten.

With this situation, Republicans see no reason for deserting their party. Every candidate had a fair deal at the primary. There is nothing in political ethics to prevent a candidate's friends from doing all they can in his behalf, so long as the legal requirements are observed Many Republicans who voted the State Keystone ticket last fall are also back in the Republican fold, and there is every indication that the Republican ticket will win hands down at the November election.

Little Coal Now in Pools

Good Shipping Stage of Last Week or So Beneficial to Coal Man

For the first time in many months the harbors and pools in the Ohio and Monongahela rivers are free from barges loaded with coal. This has been made possible through the heavy rains of the past week. BOATING HISTORY OF RIVER

California Man Gives Interesting Data of Navigation

BUILDING OF VESSELS

Some interesting apropos of the coming river centennial celebration to be held in Pittsburg beginning next Monday, when the one hundredth anniversary of the beginning of steam navigation on the Western rivers will be celebrated under the auspices of the Western Pennsylvania Historical Society, has come to light in a historical article prepared a number of years ago by L. W. Morgan of California, Pa.

Beginning with a resume of early traffic on the Monongahela River before the days when the steam was navigated by steam propellel boats and keel and flat boats were largely used, Mr. Morgan continues with a description of some of the early boat building operations in Pittsburg. He says:

"The building of sea going vessels was established in Pittsburg by a French gentleman, Louis Anastasius Tarascon, who emigrated from France in 1794, established himself in Philadelphia as a merchant. In 1799 he sent two of his clerks to examine the course of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers from Pittsburg to New Orleans and ascertain the practicability of sending ships and clearing them ready rigged from Pittsburg to Europe and the West Indies.

"The two gentlemen reported favorably. M. Tarascon associated them with himself under the firm name of John A. Tarascon Brothers, James Berthoud & Co, and immediately es-

Rev. J. E. Campbell Tells What Effect Brooks Law May Have

ADDRESSES CONVENTION

New Castle Man Describes Methods by Which Lawrence County Went Dry

Denouncing in scathing terms the saloon-keeper and his business, Rev J. Elmer Campbell, of New Castle, a leader in the movement which made Lawrence county dry, then turned on the people and declared that they were to blame for existing conditions, at the evening session of the Charleroi district Sunday School convention held in the Methodist Episcopal church. Rev Campbell defended the Brooks law and said that any man who charged that the booze business could not be abolished by this law was a "liar." Rev Campbell was the feature attraction at the Sunday School convention and his talk on the subject "How Lawrence County Was Made Dry," created a profound impression. Rev Campbell began his duscourse by a brief talk of the work of Rev. William A. Sunday. He said that an evangelist of Sunday's character helps business, drives the saloon from a community and the best of all "arouses the sleepy church."

People of the Monongahela valley were advised to continue their efforts to get Sunday here, Rev. Campbell declaring that if that great evangelist came "there would be bartenders preaching the gospel in one year."

In beginning his discourse proper Rev. Campbell asked the question "Have you heard the latest from Maine?" and then stated it had gone dry by at least 700 votes Some of his main points are given as follows:

"In this war on the saloon the question is not can we win? There is no question. If the church would vote as it dresses up on Sunday, will we win? I say will we win. I understand you Washington countians are thinking of enlarging your jail. Lawrence county can loan you one.

"Can we abolish the saloon under the present Brooks law? It may not be possible, but you can't convince me that we didn't do it in Lawrence county.

"Are you awake? The saloon can't thrive in a distinctly Christian community. You'll have to clean up your churches.

"In Lawrence county we built a machine that put the bug on the saloon good and proper. We had 26 lawyers and committees to boot. Principally among these committees was a violation committee. This committee's duty was to establish evidence of violations. Systematically it went to work Then armed with evidence and a general remonstrance bearing about 15,000 names, we went to Judge Porter. We used 28 of our own and many of the liquor men's witnesses and turned their own evidence against them. They swore the trade was necessary and we irrefutably proved by their own evidence that it wasn't. We asked for justice and got it.

"I want to say right now that there

NOTHING TO OFFER

While there is no partisianship in the duties of the county officials to be elected at the November election, the success of the organization that wins at the polls has a distinct bearing on the politics of the State and Nation later on. By drawing party lines in the local elections the organization is strengthened and maintained, and with a free and unrestricted nominating election, where all the voters can express their choice in the seection of candidates, the business interests of the public are not jeopardized It is thus with the Re- the primary nominees. They were the choice of an infinitely greater number of electors than voted against them, and for that reason there is no occasion for Republicans to desert their ticket at the November election, simply because some candidates won out over others at the primary.

The Fusionists have nothing to offer that is better than what the Republicans have Man for man in point of business ability and integrity the Fusion ticket is not superior in any respect While the integrity of no candidate on either ticket is questioned in point of business ability the Republican ticket is equal to if not superior to the Fusionists in every respect More than that the Republicans are the choice of a big majority of the electors of that party while the Fusion candidtes had an agreement for one or the other to withdraw after the primary in order to make a uniform ticket for both the Democrats and Keystoners Where this is done the nominees cannot be as free a choice of the voters as when they are elected directly in the open primaries

The Republican ticket is even a freer chice of the electors than the Fusion ticket, and there is no reason for the members of the former to desert their colors They will need the full strength of their organization later on to uphold the principles of their party in the State and that is why each Republican should stick to his party at the November election

TAFT SEEMS CERTAIN.

United States Senator Boies Penrose, who has just recovered from an annoying but not serious sickness, has declared that in his judgment President Taft will be renominated and re-elected Senator Penrose sees nothing alarming in the recent Chicago meeting of the advocates of Senator La Follette and declares that meeting merely a move of the political opportunists and soreheads Senator Penrose reasons along the following convincing lines:

"The vote taken in the Chicago convention for President in 1908 shows how little President Taft has to fear from this so-called La Follette uprising. At that time the Wisconsin candidate received but 25 votes not the solid delegation from his own State, as one delegate voted for Taft. Taft then received 702 votes out of a total of 980 Though it is far in advance of the next convention, yet all the indications point to the regular Republicans uniting for the re-nomination of Mr. Taft In that event he will have in addition to the 702 votes he had in 1908, these votes which were cast for other candidates: Cannon, 58; Fairbanks, 40; Foraker, 16, Hughes, 67; Knox, 68; Roosevelt 3 With these accessions to his strength it is seen how frail are the supports upon which the hopes of the progressive rest. But they are taking a gambler's chance and at any rate they are crystalizing the opposition in the belief that it may prove useful upon some occasion"

PICKED UP IN PASSING

In view of the effort that is being made at this particular time to sell orchard lands in the west and other sections of the country, attention is called by J. C. Tyson of Adams county to the fact that there is no better opportunities for growing apples than in Pennsylvania. Mr. Tyson is secretary of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Association, and a successful fruit grower himself. Along this line he says:

"Investment in western apple lands should not tempt a Pennsylvanian I know orchards in this State growing on land that has sold within fifteen years for $50 per acre, with good buildings, that will this year pay a net return of about $260 per acre, over 500 per cent. In the meantime these trees have paid off all the cost of growing, including 6 per cent per annum on the investment.

"Thousands of acres of apple land in Pennsylvania are still unplanted and are still available at reasonable prices.

"Pennsylvania apples have quality unexcelled and there is a surprise in store for all the doubters who attend the Annual Fruit Show of the State Horticultural Association at Duquesne Garden, Pittsburg in January when the Association and the State Dairy Union will meet jointly and hold a rousing show."

"What is electricity?" That is a question which is often asked to puzzle the unwary, and the story is told of an investigator in the Pittsburg district who thought to get the popular idea on his subject by putting the question to different people he met in the course of the day The first person he tried it on was a street car conductor, and to the question, "What is electricity?" the latter looked a bit surprised and replied:

"Why, juice, of course. Fares, plese."

"What is electricity?" the investigator asked next of a mechanic, with a box of tools under his arm.

"That which makes the wheels go round," was the reply.

The last question was propounded to a patient in the hospital, who happened to have inadvertantly grasped a live wire. This one replied when he query was put. "What is electricity?"

"What General Sherman said war was."

"There was no sentiment in Judge Porter's decision for Lawrence county. The evidence was there Liquor men could get no hope anywhere They were beaten What has resulted?—a better city, better business and all around better conditions We've just landed two great big industries, having as competitors two of the wettest cities in the wettest part of the State New Castle and Lawrence county are thriving Does that talk? Does that prove anything? Crime has fallen off about 50 per cent

"Now you people can do the same thing that we did. Get busy Vote right. Conduct the fight systematically. And show them."

In prefacing his remarks Rev Campbell told the congregation that if anyone had anything to say detrimental to Billy Sunday's character, to say it to him He wanted to fight anyhow. Booklets of statistics concerning New Cactle and Lawrence county were given out, showing the increase in business resulting from the banishment of the saloon In some trades there has been a wonderful increase.

tablished at Pittsburg a large wholesale and retail store and warehouse, a ship yard a rigging and sail loft, an anchor smith shop a block manufactory and all other things necessary to complete sea going vessels"

Continuing, Mr. Morgan says that the first schooner was built in 1801 and that for some years small sea going vessels actually were built there and saw actual service He continues

"Later steamers were built in great numbers to be used here and on the Western and Southern rivers. Yards were located at Elizabeth, McKeesport, Monongahela, Belle Vernon, California, West Brownsville and East Riverside The coal business was of small proportions until after the dams and locks were built to Brownsville Brownsville, for a number of years, was the head of navigation so far as steamboating was concerned, and nearly all its prominent and wealthy citizens were boatmen either here or on Western waters

"The earliest suggestions of an improvement of the rivers by a system of locks was in the report of a survey made for the State by E. F. Gray, a civil engineer, in 1828 Nothing further was done until 1832, when the late Andrew Stewart made an effort in Congress to have it done by the Federal Government. A public meeting at Waynesburg, Greene County November 18, 1835, recommended and urged an improvement by the State, as Congress had declined to do it. Then came the Monongahela Navigation Company, authorized by an act of Assembly of March 31, 1836. The stock was to be $300,000 in shares of $50 The company started in 1837, of which amount Allegheny contributed $47,-400 Until after the work was completed to Brownsville $258,100 was the entire capital basis, and much of this was never realized. The two lower locks were completed for use October 18, 1841. The entire improvement was completed to Brownsville in November, 1844.

"In the early days of the Navigation Company Gen J. K. Moorehead was its president. He was familiarily known as "Old Slackwater." In startling comparison with the coal shipments of today is the table showing the number of bushels of coal passed through the locks commencing with 1845 It shows a total of 4 605,185 bushels, and ending with 1871 it was 54,208,800."

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Loss of Appetite or Distress After Eating a Symptom that Should Not be Disregarded

Appetite is just a natural desire for food Loss of appetite or stomach distress after eating indicate indigestion or dyspepsia. Over-eating is a habit very dangerous to a person's good general health.

It is not what you eat but what you digest and asimilate that does you good Some of the strongest, heaviest, and healthiest persons are moderate eaters

There is nothing that will cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people daily contract disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge all in Charleroi who suffer from any stomach derangement, indigestion, or dyspepsia, whether acute or chronic, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the distinct understanding that we will refund their money without question or formality, if after reasonable use of this medicine, they are not perfectly satisfied with the results. We recommend them to our customers every day, and have yet to hear of any one who has not been benefited by them We honestly believe them to be without equal. They give very prompt relief aiding to neutralize the gastric juices strengthen the digestive organs, to regulate the bowels, and thus to promote perfect nutrition, and eradicate all unhealthy symptoms.

We urge you to try a 25c box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, which gives 15 days' treatment At the end of that time, your money will be returned to you if you are not satisfied. Of course, in chronic [illegible] length of treatment varies; for such cases, we have two large which sell for 50c and $1.00 Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. GOOD EFFECTS OF REFORM VICTORY

Quaker City Campaign Inspiration to Party in State.

INTEREST IN COUNTY CONTESTS

[illegible] Emphasizes Importance of [illegible]—Pennsylvania in the [illegible] of 1912.

Philadelphia, Oct. 27.—The victory of the reform [illegible] at the recent primaries [illegible] an inspiration to the [illegible] party throughout the state [illegible] county voters [illegible] party in this city [illegible] and [illegible] State [illegible] Republican [illegible] have received [illegible] letters [illegible] Philadelphia [illegible] bringing [illegible] the strongest [illegible] the [illegible] opponents of the [illegible] secure [illegible] Senator Penrose [illegible] attitude towards local political conditions [illegible] emphatic [illegible] Republicans [illegible] there must be [illegible] that would be [illegible] reform [illegible] the Republican party itself. [illegible] the Republicans [illegible] for the [illegible] would require [illegible]

Election of Reform Ticket Assured.

The nomination of George H. Earle, Jr., whom Senator [illegible] earnestly [illegible] jointly, was the answer of the Republican party in this city to the call of reform. The candidacy of Mr. Earle has placed the Republican party in Philadelphia upon a high plane. Opponents of the Republican ticket enter the campaign disheartened over the certainty that Mr Earle will be elected.

The success of the reform forces in the primaries is especially gratifying to public spirited citizens of Philadelphia, who have grown tired reading vicious attacks constantly made upon this city. With the advent of new political conditions the era of vilification will be brought to an end, for the reason that Mr Earle and his associates are determined to provide an administration of public affairs that will be free from corrupt influences.

The Republican leaders here are keeping in close touch with the campaign for the election of county tickets throughout the state. Although Pennsylvania will not elect a state ticket this year, the headquarters of the Republican state committee have been opened as usual and the party leaders are co-operating with county committees in the work of organizing the voters. Reports received at state headquarters indicate a general disposition on the part of Republicans who voted against their party's candidates last [illegible] party.

Duty of the Republican Voter.

The leaders are anxious for Republican victories in the county elections because of the effect an old-time Republican showing will have upon the campaign next year. The Keystone State's importance in the national elections of 1912 will be greater than ever before. The reapportionment bill, passed by congress [illegible] extra session, [illegible] Pennsylvania's representation [illegible] at Washington from thirty-two [illegible] six members, thus increasing [illegible] state's representation in the electoral college from thirty-four to thirty-eight, and the number of delegates to which the state is entitled in the Republican national convention from sixty-eight to seventy-six. The views of the Republican leaders relative to the political situation this fall were outlined today by Chairman Walton, of the Republican state committee.

"This year for the first time the Republican voters of Pennsylvania will not be presented with an opportunity to record through concentrated action their adherence to their party's principles," said Mr Walton. "Instead of a statewide campaign the contest will not extend beyond county lines, except in a few judicial districts. An unusual condition thus confronts those charged with the marshalling of the Republican hosts of the state at the polls. They must overcome the indifference of the voter in an off year; they must impress him with the fact that the elections will involve vastly more important issues than those of merely local significance; they must convince him that the welfare of Pennsylvania and the nation demand that his ballot shall be cast for the entire Republican ticket.

Pennsylvania at the Polls.

"The elections this fall will have a direct bearing upon the contest which awaits the Republican party for supremacy in the nation. The result of the campaign of 1912 will affect the material welfare of every man, woman and child in this state. Encouraged by their success in the congressional elections last fall, opponents of the Republican party are active, alert and hopeful. They believe that next year they will elect a Democrat president and that they will secure control of both branches of the Sixty-third congress. If they do this Democratic tariff agitation with its destructive influences upon the industrial and commercial organizations of this country will only have fairly started. And Democratic free trade tariff legislation will be the inevitable result.

"The outcome of the elections in every state this year will be accepted as an accurate index to the sentiment of the people relative to the administration of President Taft and his effective efforts to prevent Democratic tariff revision. The triumph of the spirit of unrest in 1911 may mean its triumph in 1912.

"If there is a state in the Union which should emphasize at every election its uncompromising adherence to the protective tariff system Pennsylvania is that state. Indifference of Republican voters and Democratic victories this fall will be construed by low tariff advocates as an indication that Pennsylvania no longer demands a continuance of the conservative and constructive policies of the Republican party. The state committee is doing its utmost to impress upon Republicans the importance of getting together at the polls this fall preparatory to the battle for Republican principles in 1912."

Here's Champion Nature Faker.

Some one was telling Sam about the longevity of the mud turtle. "Yes," said Sam, "I know all about that, for once I found a venerable old fellow in a meadow, who was so old that he could scarcely wiggle his tail, and on his back was carved (tolerably plain, considering all things), these words: 'Paradise, Year 1, Adam.'"

How It Worked.

"How did that assembled car of yours work, Slithers?" asked Bildad. "Oh, like a good many other assemblies—when we got out on the road with it there'd always be some kind of a deadlock, and we couldn't pass anything," said Slithers.—Harper's Weekly.

Maybe He Doesn't Say It Now.

Supreme Cant.

LIVERY STABLE STOCK IN VENICE!

If a man of ordinary intelligence were approached by an affable stranger and urged to buy stock in a livery stable in Venice, he would in all likelihood feel insulted. He would have reason to be, for such an offer would be a reflection on his intelligence.

It is along lines like this that some business men advertise.

For instance: A clothier has a line of suits near the end of the season that he desires to close out. He advertises them at a sharp reduction. Compared with what he paid for them and what he sold them for at the opening of the season, they are a bargain. The public does not want the suits at that particular time at any price, and the clothier, not getting the results, makes a deduction that advertising doesn't pay, and ceases to advertise.

In the meantime the big department store in the nearest city is flooding the newspapers with cuts and descriptions of nifty ties, collars, marked down shirts that are good at any time, seasonable underwear at special prices that is needed to fill in between times.

The local dealer is disappointed because people won't buy stock in a livery stable in Venice, and loses the sale of other stocks that might be practicable.

The department store in the city gets the trade because it knows that the ordinary person has no use for something he does not need at that particular time.

The business man who never gets advertising to produce results are the Micawbers of trade—always waiting for something to turn up. The man who knows how to advertise, and tries to sell the people something they want, WHEN THEY WANT IT and not to unload what he doesn't want—turns something up.

As a matter of fact, the comfort of the Red Cross Shoe is due to the way it fits the foot and follows its every movement as a glove moves with the hand.

CHILD WOULD NOT EAT

Constant Cough Weakened Him

A healthy child ought to be "hungry as a bear" at meal time. Poor appetite means failing health.

The best thing you can do for a child that won't eat is to give teaspoonful doses of Vinol This is wonderfully good in bringing back lost appetite and it is so pleasant that children take it eagerly.

Mrs. E. Stager of Bronx Borough. N Y., says: "My little son, three years ald, had bronchitis for a year The cough disturbed his rest and he lost his appetite

"I gave him Vinol for a while and it stopped his coughing and brought back his appetite. His health has improved wonderfully. He likes Vinol."

It is the tonic iron and strengthening cod liver elements in Vinol (it contains no oil,) that make it so strengthening and blood-enriching It makes weak, pale children strong and rosy and we guarantee it to do exactly what we tell you—if it does not you get your money back Piper Bros Druggists. Snail Millions of Years Old.

A petrified prehistoric snail embedded in the heart of a large piece of lime lias stone, was discovered a few days ago by quarrymen working at Cheddar Cliffs, Wales, upon some large boulders of stone which were displaced in the landslide which occurred some years ago. The discovery is distinctly interesting to the geologists on account of the great age of the find, as, situated upon a very low strata, it must be millions of years since the snail lived.

paigns. All that can be charged is that certain interests worked for certain individuals, a feature which every candidate in the field sought to turn to his own account if possible And while some of this possibly helped one or two candidates, is is more than evident that others would have received the nomination anyhow upon their personal merits, and could not have been beaten.

With this situation, Republicans see no reason for deserting their party. Every candidate had a fair deal at the primary There is nothing in political ethics to prevent a candidate's friends from doing all they can in his behalf, so long as the legal requirements are observed Many Republicans who voted the State Keystone ticket last fall are also back in the Republican fold, and there is every indication that the Republican ticket will win hands down at the November election.
